DEPARTMENT OF STATE

MEMORANDUM FOR BRIG. GEN. A. J. GOODPASTER THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Dinner Music at Camp David

On September 16 Major Eisenhower telephonedabout the selection of Russian folk songs to be played at Camp David from a folio entitled "Songs of Russia, for Orchestra", which was sent to the Department for review so that songs which might be offensive to the Soviet Government could be eliminated and appropriate selections pointed out.

In general, the Department feels that the folio submitted appears to contain a rather undistinguished selection of Russian folk songs. If the songs to be performed must be chosen from this volume, we suggest that they be kept to a minimum, including only the best known numbers such as, "Volga Boatman" (17), "Ah, My Birch Tree" (35), "Down the Mother Volga", (10), "Brown Eyes" (19), and "Kalinka" (28). Two songs which should be avoided as possibly controversial are No. 21, "Stenka Razin" and No. 30, "Madame."

If it is possible to include songs not in the folio, selection from a Soviet publication of Russian folk songs appears desirable. A collection of such songs arranged for voice and piano (not for orchestra) is available on loan from the Department of State, if desired. More recent Soviet songs which are available in American editions, such as "Evenings in the Suburbs of Moscow", also could appropriately be included in the program.

The folio, "Songs of Russia" is enclosed.
